A BLUE OUTLOOK.

The Kind of Comfort the Democrats Are Getting These Days.

Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. Washington, July 1st .- The Democratic leaders held an informal meeting to-day, similar to the one of the Republicans, to map out plans for the coming campaign. Since this informal talk it is easy to discover that beneath all their pretended confidence in the re-election of Cleveland there is much serious apprehension over the out-come for the Democratic party next November. The fact is that the more the Democrats come to consider the ticket nominated by the Republicans at Chicago, the more troubled they become. They do not see their way half as clear as they expected they would. The fact is they have all along counted on Indiana as a State they could carry, in a pinch, and as for Connecticut, that was considered a foregone conclusion. From what your correspond ent can learn, the meeting to day had cold water thrown upon it by the doubtful way in which the Indiana men talked about carrying that State against Harrison. While they held out hope, they candidly ted that the outcome is more doubtful than for many years. The stumblingblock they admit to be the Mills bill and the President's free-trade message. If, they say, ex-Governor Porter is put up to run for Governor, no power on earth can pre-vent the State going for the Republican

He said: "I was not in time to witness any part of the engage-ment of the first day of Gettysburg, but am pleased to be in time to witness these ceremonies and to express that sympathy that should go out from all hearts to those who know how to appreciate the conduct of soldiers who offer their lives on the altar of their country. A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY. Marital Troubles Result in Wife Murder and Suicide. Indianapolis, July 1st.—The marital roubles of Jesse Johnson, one of the most prominent implement-dealers of this city and a respectable and wealthy citizen, culminated last night in a desperate murder and suicide. Some months ago Johnson admitted a friend named Alexander to his home and shortly afterward Alexander and Mrs. Johnson eloped to Texas. The injured husband procured a divorce and se cured the arrest and return of Alexander to this city on a charge of forgery. Immediately upon their return Alexander and Mrs. Johnson were married. The trial of Alex- was punished terribly. Both men are 22 till Johnson had attempted to shoot him in the Court-room. Johnson's mind was evidently affected by his troubles, and for several days he has been hanging around the house where his divorced wife is stopping. Last night he met Mrs. Alexander under the electric light in front of the Brunswick Hotel. She recognized him at the same moment and turned to run. As she did so Johnson drew his pistol and fired two shots, the first taking effect in the woman's spine and the second striking a bystander named Long in the shoulder. As Mrs. Alexander fell Johnson put the pistol to his breast and fired, the ball passing just below the heart, and producing a fatal wound. As he fel he fired another shot, but it passed harm-lessly over his shoulder. The wound received by the woman is fatal. TEMPERANCE REFORM. An Anti-Salconist Favors the Chicago Convention Ticket.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 1st .- Albert Griffin Chairman of the Anti-Saloon Republican National Committee, has issued an address to the country, in which he summarized the work of the National Republican Convention on temperance matters, and appeals to the voters to support the ticket nomi-nated by the Convention. He gives as the reasons for his advice that the platform commits the party against the national whisky ring protection tax, and that Har rison is a pronounced anti-saloonist and that a ringing temperance plank was, after all, added to the platform. The friendliness of the Republican party to the temperance cause is further argued in the statement that in nearly every Republican State legis lators have in the last two years antagonized the saloon element.

Transcontinental Roads. tht, 1888, by the California Associated Press NEW YORR, July 1st.-The immigrant system on the transcontinental railroads west of the Missouri river was practically abolished to-day. The rates for passengers from all Missouri river points to Pacific coast points heretofore were $60 for firstclass, $35 for second and $30 for immigrants. An order was issued a week ago from the headquarters of all continental roads to the effect that the third-class or immigrant rate would be abolished on and after July 1st, thereby practically raising the rate of immigrant passage to $85. The order went into effect at Castle Garden to-day, and occasioned no apparent surprise to the large number of west-bound immigrants who

Washington, July 1st.—Betting has begun. It is never too early nor too late to lay wagers on politics. It will be seven months before the electoral count by Congress, next February, which will finally decide the result of the pending Presidential canvas, but for all that a great deal of money has been put up to be idle during that period. THE speech of ex-Confederate Chalmers in the National Republican Convention has greatly stirred up the Democratic press. It is now shouting, "Take him if you want him; he wanted office from the Democracy, couldn't get it, and so bolted." Whether this is true or not makes no sort of difference; we are not disposed to insult the Southern Democrats by the suggestion that an able ex-Confederate General could not get office from the Southern end of the party if he wanted it. But however that may be, the question is, did General Challot fairly counted, so long as it is to the interest of the Democrats to prevent it? If he lied, he ought to be held up to pubing and general devilishness in the manipulation of the ballot-box prevail at the lican voters. The recent election in Louisiana, the remarkable changes in the party vote and the amazing abnormal increase of the Democratic vote give the best of reasons for believing that just what General Chalmers said is true. party of independence. It is capable of introspection and self-criticism. One of the grandest elements of its composition is its fearlessness in judging, criticising and calling to account its own. There are partisans so hide-bound that they shudder at the very mention of an error having been committed, by a party man or representative. To such, a party is everything and principle secondary; according to their view the party leaders can do no wrong. The Mugwump is entitled to fair judgment in his revolt; he must be given credit for conscientious impulses-in his actionhowever mistaken in judgment: nevertheless he but reflected the independence of intelligence that denies party infallibility; his act is of a piece with the independence that has always characterized Republicans; the fearlessness of criticism and the courage to apply domestic correctives. Let no one take care and fear, because Republicans do not bow submissively to partisanship as do Democrats. The party and the party leaders are never the masters of the true Republican, but his servants, the instruments of the will and judgment and courage of the individual members of the party, and subject to such criticism and that while it is extremely gratifying that there are to be no Mugwumps this year, the Republican who voices honest dissent from any action by party leaders that to principle, is entitled to respect for his protest, since he testifies the independence party what it is, the party of progress and and raked, should be considered.
